Dr. Nisha, as a resource person, in collaboration with the department of Applied Sciences and Humanities, conducted a comprehensive workshop on How to Prepare an Appealing Introduction on September 17, 2019. The session began with a formal welcome and introduction of the speaker by Ms. Nagma, coordinator of the event. The session aimed to equip participants with the necessary skills to create engaging openings for presentations, speeches, essays, and other forms of communication. Dr. Nisha emphasized the critical role of introductions in capturing audience attention and setting the tone for the entire presentation or piece of writing. She highlighted how a strong introduction can influence audience perception and engagement.

The speaker provided various techniques to grab audience attention, including the use of provocative questions, startling statistics, vivid anecdotes, and compelling quotes. She demonstrated how to select the most appropriate hook based on the target audience and the content of the presentation. Dr. Nisha explained the significance of clearly stating the main idea or thesis of the presentation in the introduction. She offered guidance on crafting concise and informative thesis statements that effectively guide the audience.

The workshop included interactive elements to enhance participant engagement. Dr. Nisha conducted group activities where participants practiced crafting different types of introductions. She also encouraged participants to share their experiences and challenges with introductions. Participants expressed positive feedback about the workshop, finding it informative and engaging. They appreciated Dr. Nisha's expertise and practical advice. Many participants reported gaining valuable insights into crafting effective introductions and felt more confident in their ability to capture audience attention. At the end the speaker was felicitated by (Prof.) Dr. Vinay Khatri, HOD of the department with a token of gratitude.
