The objective of the program was to provide inclusive information about cervical cancer, including its causes, prevention, early detection, and treatment options. The initiative aimed to empower women with knowledge that could help in reducing the incidence and mortality rates associated with cervical cancer.

The event began with Garlanding and Lamp lighting ceremony by all the dignitaries. The insightful welcome address by Dr. Vinay Khatri, HOD, Department of Applied Sciences and Humanities. Guest Speaker, Dr. Geeta Gupta, A Renowned Gynecologist, began her session by providing an overview of cervical cancer, emphasizing its prevalence and impact on women’s health globally.

She explained the primary causes of cervical cancer, focusing on the role of human papillomavirus (HPV) infection. She also highlighted other risk factors, including smoking, weakened immune system, long-term use of birth control pills, and having multiple sexual partners. The session covered common symptoms of cervical cancer, such as abnormal vaginal bleeding, pelvic pain, etc. Dr. Gupta stressed the importance of early detection and consulting a healthcare provider if any symptoms are noticed. She discussed various preventive measures, including HPV vaccination, regular pap smear etc., and encouraged women to take proactive steps in safeguarding their health. She also provided an overview of the available treatment options for cervical cancer, including surgery, radiation therapy and chemotherapy.

At last, an interactive Q&A segment was conducted. Students had the opportunity to ask questions related to cervical cancer and women’s health in general. Dr. Geeta Gupta taken various queries, providing detailed and practical advice.

The event was successful in achieving its objective of raising awareness about cervical cancer and empowering women with essential information to protect their health. It served as a reminder of the importance of regular health check-ups and preventive measures in combating cervical cancer. The awareness program concluded with a vote of thanks to Dr. Geeta Gupta for her insightful presentation and valuable contributions. The attendees expressed their gratitude for the knowledge shared and the opportunity to learn about such a critical health issue.
