An exhilarating session on "Enunciate Excellence: Improving Pronunciation Through Book Reading" was organized by the Department of Applied Sciences and Humanities on 9th March 2024 for the students. The program commenced with a heartfelt and warm welcome by (Prof.) Dr. Vinay Khatri, Head of the Department, extended to our esteemed speaker, Dr. Aadil, Assistant Professor, Applied Sciences and Humanities. Overall, 45 students attended the session.

Dr. Aadil is a book enthusiast and explained the importance and significance of book reading in the lives of the students. He equipped the participants with strategies to improve their pronunciation through the practice of reading aloud from various literary works. He enhanced his awareness of phonetic nuances and sound patterns to aid in clear and articulate enunciation. Additionally, he provided practical tips and exercises to strengthen vocal clarity, intonation, and diction.

Throughout the session, attendees displayed enhanced grammatical accuracy and precision in their written communication, applying phonetic knowledge to improve spelling and grammar. By the conclusion of the session, participants exhibited a heightened awareness of sentence structure and syntax, resulting in a more polished and coherent written expression. The workshop cultivated participants' confidence in applying phonetic principles to their writing, leading to improved clarity, coherence, and precision in their written communication. Ms. Sumit, the coordinator of the event ended the session with the vote of thanks to the expert.
